Salt Lake Drops Another to Ogden Without Being Able to Get a Run.

"INDIAN" LUTHER SMITH PITCHES GOOD BALL

Rain Stops Contest After Six Innings of Listless Baseball Have Been Played.

on bases in Saturday's game with Sait Lake at Walker's field, and timely hitting by the Gimlinites brought me, shutting Salt Lake out, 6 to 0. Sait Lake had a new pattery that more than made good, but most of the other than made good, but most of the other players were in their usual poor form. The way Salt Lake's new battery worked was a surprise to every one. Salt Lake now only needs seven other new players to have a good team.

Luther Smith, a full blooded Indian from Diamondville, Wyo., is the latest acquisition to Donovan's pitching staff. Although he was touched up rather frequently, his pitching was consistent and he worked well throughout the six innings of the game. "Red" Settle, behind the bat, proved himself a catcher of big league ability. There were two attempts to steal second by the Ogdenites, and each pilferer was nipped at the second sack by a beautiful "peg" of the hard working catcher.

"Maggie" Murphy twiried for Ogden and pitched an exceptionally good game, allowing but two hits in the six innings. The Salt Lake players couldn't find the Ogden pitcher and there was little danger at any time of their crossing the home plate.

Rain in the last half of the seventh inning stopped the game. The indications are that with a continuance of the game would have added to the Ogden total, while Salt Lake probably would not have scored. The only two hits credited to Salt Lake were made by Settle, the new catcher. In the seventh Tennant got a hit, but immediately afterward the game was called and the hit doesn't count, as the seventh inning was not played out. players were in their usual poor form.

How the Scores Came.

How the Scores Came.

In the first inning the first two Ogdenites went out quickly. Then Donovan dropped a throw to first and Good, who caught for Ogden, reached the initial station. When he tried to steal second, however, he was caught and the side retired. With two men out in the second Hemle slammed out a three-bagger. The next man up, however, popped out to the pitcher. The third, fourth and ofth innings were the disastrous ones. In the third the Indian warked Murphy. Nevins fumbled Lawrence's grounder and then threw wild, Murphy reaching third and Lawrence scored. Stewart fumbled as grounder and Murphy scored. Good singled and Lawrence scored. Nevins ended the run-getting for Ogden by pulling off a fast double. He picked up Lawrence's grounder touched Good as he went by and nipped Gimlin at first. In the fourth inning Plake got a pass. Hemle pounded out his second three-bagger and Plake scored. Hemle tried to stead home and Bluth, who was batting shoved his bat in front of the catcher to block the catch. Bluth was put out for interference and Hemle returned to third. The next two men went out and Hemle was unable to score. Bock led off in the fifth with a single, reached second on Nevins's error and third on a passed hall. He heat out the throw to the plate on Good's grounder to Nevins. Good went to second on Gimlin's single.

Hemle was unable to score. Bock led off in the fifth with a single reached second on Novins's error and third on a passed hall. He heat out the throw to the plate on Good's grounder to Nevins. Good went to second on Gimlin's single. Smith filled the bases by hitting Hemle with a pitched ball. Bluth sinsled, scoring two. Two popped out to the pitcher and the third went out on a grounder, pitcher to first.

After the fifth the Indian held down the Osdenites. In the sixth they went out one, two, three, and in Ogden's half of the seventh, which was played before the rain, only one man got to first.

Settle got a hit in the first inning and reached third on Bluth's error after two men were out. Donovan sent out one that looked like a nice single. Hemle was playing in close however, and threw him out at first. In the fourth Settle again got a hit and stole second. He got no farther, however. In the sixth Smith reached first on Plake's wild throw and rot to second on a passed ball. The next three men, however, went out quickly. After two men were out for Salt Lake in the unfinished seventh Tennant got a hit. Immediately the rain began to pour down and the game was called.

Mr. Keene on the turf. All spring and summer he has met with misfortunes.

Tom Shaw, the successor of "Pittsburg Phil" as a race track plunger, has had a bad season financially. He has quit the game practically. Instead of laying odds and operating on a big scale, he is now only a speculator. Where once he was a plunger, he is now a "piker."

This change in Shaw's business methods does not mean that he is "broke." But he has lost nearly $200,000 in the past year, he says.

Shaw's ill luck began a year ago. He was then at the height of his fame. He had a fortune, acquired by his ability to pick winners and his plunging tactics. Then came a streak of bad luck, that cost him nearly $100,000.

Since then, at Jacksonville, Aqueduct, Belmont park. Gravesend. Sheepshead Bay and Empire City, he has lost steadily, and it was not long before his cash on hand was wiped out. But while Shaw has property, stocks and bonds left, he doesn't care, under the present condition of turf affairs, to further endanger his holdings.

Langford and Mooney Are Pounded Hard and Often by Village Sluggers.

The race for the state league pennan s now over. There are more state leagu games scheduled, but Murray, by its vic tory over the Occidentals at Murray, Sat urday, settled the question as to the pen nant. If Murray loses the remaining tw nant. If Murray loses the remaining two games scheduled it still will lead enough so that it cannot lose the pennant.

Murray's victory over the Occidentals Saturday was complete and final. The Occidentals had an off day Saturday and the Murray players were at their best. The score of 7 to 0 in favor of Murray indicates the difference in the two teams as they played Saturday. Hummel, pitching in superb form had the Occidentals at his mercy throughout the game. He allowed only three scattered hits.

The hitherto invincible Langford and The hitherto invincible Langford and Mooney were pounded out of the box by the Murray sluggers and Black was forced to use Rogers to pitch for him after his two star twirlers had been pounded all over the lot.

For a tinic the rain threatened to prevent the completion of the game but after a wait in the fifth inning the game was continued in a drizzle. The negroes "stalled" in the fifth after two men were out, hoping that the rain would prevent full five innings being played and thus save them from defeat. Umpire Dutch called time, but finally ordered that the game be continued. game be continued.

CARDINAL OWNER PROTESTS AGAINST LEAGUE UMPIRES

By Associated Press,
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—President Stanley
Robison of the St. Louis Nationals plans to have some action taken against several members of the national league staff of umpires at the annual meeting of the magnates this winter.
"The umpiring in the National league this season has been the worst in years," said President Robison here yesterday.
"In protesting the work of the indicator handiers, I do not mean that we are always getting the worst of the decisions.
There is no question but that the Cardinals have suffered as much, if not more, than any other team in the league, and I am not the only club owner who has a complaint.

am not the only club owner who has a complaint.

"The poor work of the umpires is going on all over the country. There is not a city in the circuit that has not some protest over the work of the men who are hired to judge games fairly. I hardly believe there is any favoritism shown; the umpires are simply incompetent."

Fight Experts Declare That Nevada Mining Man Made Poor Ring Judge.

VIOLATIONS OF RULES FREQUENT IN BIG BOUT

"Tex" Forgot to Count Jeffries Out When Johnson Knocked Him Down.

Jeffries-Johnson fight in their calm mo ments, many ring experts have reached the conclusion that Tex Rickard as referee signally failed to enforce the Queensberry rules, which govern the battle. Those who saw the big fellows meet at Reno are inclined to find much fault Reno are inclined to find much fault with Rickard's conduct in the ring. In the first place, it is pointed out that Rickard permitted Jeffries and Johnson to hold in the clinches in a way that was surprising. While the articles of agreement stipulated that the referee could not step between the principals when clinched they authorized him to order the men to break away at the word of command. From all accounts Rickard allowed the puglists to hug and clinch to their hearts' content without once cautioning them or ordering them to separate.

once cautioning them or ordering them to separate.

If the fight had been held in the National Sporting club of London, where the Queensberry code is always enforced to the letter, it is pointed out that the referee would have warned the men once to break out of clinches and upon a second offense he would have disqualified whichever man was at fault. There are referees of recognized ability in this country who would have interfered with the holding tacties which prevailed in almost every round, in which event in almost every round, in which event a much cleaner and more interesting fight would have been the result. Did Not Know Rules.

Rickard also permitted Jim Corbett to break the rules by walking to a neutral corner, between rounds for the purpose of annoying Johnson with personal remarks. If Rickard had been familiar with the rules of the ring and had been willing to enforce them it is argued that he would have ordered Corbett outside of the ropes, and upon the latter's refusal to leave he would have disqualified Jeffries. Rickard's toleration of Corbett's unheard of methods therefore, has been used as proof that the referee did not know his business and plainly showed it. isiness and plainly showed it
